was in language such as that above that Brigham H. Roberts, Sixteenth ward amusement hall, early night, denounced the federal tax on the Republican party and gods pursued by the Republican in the campaign now being waged a state.

Roberts spoke for nearly two and a half of an audience that was not in the amusement and time and again when he came to the climax in his address he was aided to the echo. When he made the declaration above quoted above and many of whom, probably, were visited by the gunshoers and errors in this and other campaigns. Roberts and Oscar W. Moyle, one of the meeting, also paid considerable attention to the proposition of Salt Lake stake, for the tax has taken in the campaign.

that it did not; at least, we know that it should not. This same gentleman and the Republican party lay all the existence of the trouble upon the American party. They also say that Senator Kearns is father of the American party. Whether that is true or not it is not for me to determine, but if it is so, the president of this stake has learned something in the last few years. Because, if Mr. Kearns is father of the American party, then I charge that the president of this stake is the father of Thomas Kearns and the father of the American party. Granted that there would have been no American party if it had not been for the election of Hoff. Thomas Kearns, then answer that if there would have been no American party if the president of this stake had not voted for the Hon. Thomas Kearns for the senate. Were he wiser than me? Why is he wiser now? Has he Guild Again Stricken.

BOSTON, Oct. 29.—Gov. Guild was seized with a severe attack of gastritis today. As this is the third dangerous illness experienced by the governor within a year, there is considerable anxiety over his condition.

RELEASING OF SUSPECTS AMONG NIGHT RIDERS

oner was brought in by the civil officials. Governor Patterson had a number of suspects and witnesses before him today, among them Frank Ferriner, who made a confession Wednesday night. The wedding out of prisoners has begun early and thirty-five who have been able to give satisfactory accounts of themselves were released today.

Have the merchants and the workmen of Salt Lake county forgotten the raid which the Deseret News and several hundred farmers of Salt Lake county made upon the smelting industry two years ago? If they have, it is well that they turn to the editorial of the News, in its issue of October 31, 1906, which is reproduced in today's Tribune, and reflect on what this all meant to the commercial interests and to the toilers of this valley.

Have you forgotten how thoroughly organized and supported was this movement, and how anxious the general public was as to the outcome of that struggle? Don't you know that several of the smelters were so vigorously pursued that they felt that it might be necessary to withdraw entirely from the state? Don't you know that this industry has been intimidated and harassed for years, until it is almost unbearable?

Those smelters in and around Murray and Sandy were farmed by a set of Mormon farmers, much more thoroughly than they tilled their soil. The ringleader of all that trouble and turmoil that threatened the very life of the city of Salt Lake and the great mining industry in Salt Lake, Tooele, Summit and Juab counties, was John C. Mackay, who is trying now to succeed himself as county commissioner, backed by the county and federal machines, and supported with the zeal of a paid attorney by the

Deseret News

"If the smelters cannot consume it" (the smoke), declared the Deseret News, "THEY WILL HAVE TO CLOSE UP." Further along the News declared that in case the smelters did not comply with the demands made upon them "THE FIRES WILL HAVE TO BE BANKED AND THE NUISANCE SUPPRESSED." Further along, in the language of the blackmailer, the News threatened the smelters that if they did not yield to the demand of the farmers, the courts would have to be appealed to, and, if necessary, then adverse legislation.

Here is the language: "LITIGATION

WILL HAVE TO COME FIRST, LEGISLATION AFTERWARDS."

All this was the beginning of a most cunning and well-laid plan of attacking Salt Lake's great mining and smelting industry. The American party had won its first victory and was then engaged in its first county campaign. The political leaders of the Mormon church had discovered the fact that thousands of new citizens were added to our population and that they were invariably opposed to the interference of the dominant church in the affairs of state. Such men as the aged and bigoted president and the political-apostle were far-sighted enough to know that unless the smelting industry was crushed, that the great mining camps would fill up with gentiles and it would only be a question of a few years until this district would pass forever from the control of the agents of the church.

At that time it was questionable how the mining and smelting people were standing politically. The people were about to vote and movement was made to incense the farmers against the smelters, and by doing so, INTIMIDATE THE SMELTING AND MINING INTERESTS so that they would not dare permit their men to participate in the campaign. It was a COLD-BLOODED A PIECE OF POLITICAL BRIGANDAGE AS WAS EVER WITNESSED IN ANY COMMUNITY, and so viciously was this policy pursued that it CAME VERY NEAR STRIKING A DEATH-BLOW TO THIS SPLENDID CITY.

Have the business men and the workingmen forgotten how they trembled when they were brought to realize what the fight against the smelters meant?

Have thousands of workingmen forgotten how THESE PLANTS WERE CLOSED DOWN FOR MONTHS AND MONTHS, owing to LITIGATION and THREATS of HOSTILE LEGISLATION? Is there any man, in view of these facts, who will say that it is safe to elect members of the legislature who are selected by Smoot in Salt Lake, Summit, Tooele and Juab counties, when it is so apparent that Smoot not only desires these men to assist in his candidacy for re-election, but to use them AS CLUBS TO HOLD OVER THE HEAD OF THIS MIGHTY INDUSTRY?

Right now the very life of the prosperous little cities of Murray and Garfield is threatened by this same hidden and dangerous scheme. Men are being misled into the supposition that it is to their interests to vote the Smoot ticket, when the most hostile enemies of those communities are on the Smoot ticket. Such short-sightedness is past understanding.

Don't you think, Mr. Merchant, and you, working men and women, that it is time to call a halt? Don't you think it is proper to give Mr. Smoot to understand that he has placed his hands even too deeply into the commercial heart of this community?

Are you going to permit him to pack the legislature with tools who will support the county machine that will continue to sandbag and to intimidate the smeltermen of this valley?

There is a limit to the endurance of every man, and if hostile officials are kept in power, and hostile legislators are clothed with authority and compelled to yield obedience to the demands of an arrogant, selfish and ambitious political priest, it is only a question of time until THESE FIRES WILL BE BANKED and THESE SMELTERS WILL BE CLOSED, not for a brief season until temporary peace can be agreed upon. BUT FOR ALL TIME TO COME.

It is the duty of every man who is employed in the mining and smelting industry in this entire state, to crush Smootism while it is not so powerful as it will be if it reentrenches itself and is enabled to strengthen its force during the next few years.

Smootism is an absolute menace to this entire city and to this entire state, because Smootism knows that unless it CHECKS THE GROWTH OF THE MINES AND THE SMELTERS AND THE MATERIAL GROWTH OF THIS CITY, that it cannot hope to control the affairs of the state beyond the next four or five years.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Having delivered in this city tonight his last speech in the campaign in the empire state, William J. Bryan is now speeding westward and in the morning will make another invasion of Ohio. A feature in connection with Mr. Bryan's departure here was his invitation in his private car, to the Order of Mystique Krewe of Kanooze, a Syracuse boosters' club. According to the rules, he was given the Indian name of "Hear-Oh-Hee," which means "The Boy Orator of the Platte." Before boarding his car tonight the candidate expressed himself as well pleased with his reception here and promised that his next welcome would be during his five days' tour of the state.

The Bryan special arrived here early this evening and found a big crowd of hands to welcome the candidate.

Mr. Bryan was met by the president of the Syracuse Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Bryan stopped on the station platform long enough to shake hands with several hundred persons who crowded about him. He was then hurried away for a special train scheduled for the evening. The principal gathering was at the Wieting opera house, where Judge Alton B. Parker also spoke.

Judge Parker lauded Mr. Bryan in a speech for his courage and manliness in opposing Mr. Taft and Gov. Hughes.

High Tribute to Bryan.

"It gives me pleasure," he said, "to come here tonight, especially because I am permitted to advocate for a little time the cause of one who has ideal lofty character and exalted patriotism—the Democratic standard-bearer for the presidency."

The crowd cheered itself hoarse when he concluded this tribute to Mr. Bryan.

Judge Parker arrived at the opera house ahead of Mr. Bryan, whose first engagement was at the city hall, where he spoke to an immense throng. Both there and at the opera house he received a rousing welcome.

In his principal remarks Mr. Bryan called attention to the fact that the SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Republican cheers have sounded in the wake of the Taft train which today visited Lyons, Canandaigua, Geneva, Seneca Falls and Auburn. The climax was reached tonight in this city with a big parade, two meetings and an overflow furnishing audiences of thousands whom Judge Taft addressed. There has been no lack of auditors for the demonstrations wherever the Ohioan has tarried. Despite the heavy campaigning required of him yesterday in Greater New York, he showed little effect of the strain today. He has laid out his points and what he considers Democratic fallacies in every speech and has been free in expressing his optimism as to what the result will be next Tuesday. Gov. Hughes has been commended in strong language. His own friends, realizing that the New York state ticket and the vice-presidential candidate.

Bryan Was There, Also.
Here tonight Judge Taft had the rival attraction of Mr. Bryan, whose special car was in the station when the Taft train arrived.

Judge Taft today accepted an invitation to visit New York city in December to attend the installation of an organ in the Metropolitan Temple, the gift of Andrew Carnegie. This invitation was extended by Rev. Dr. John Wesley Hill, pastor of the temple, who has been assisting Judge Taft as speaker. Dr. Hill left the party to night, after having made 150 speeches during the campaign.

Judge Taft's arguments today have been made pointed with new phrases and illustrated with new comparisons.

At Lyons, in the first speech today, where he talked to an audience at Gilchrist hall, he asserted that the duel in 1896 of the silver treasury was a victory for good that was exceeded only by the victory of the army in the Civil war.

The next extended effort of the candidate was at Canandaigua, where he went into an analysis of government through political parties. He preceded this with a prediction that Gov. Hughes would be elected.

Outlines Vital Issue.

The vital issue of this campaign Judge Taft asserted, was whether or not the American people have been well served under the administration of McKinley and Roosevelt. "I sometimes think," he explained, "that we fail to appreciate what government means. It does not mean oratory. It does not mean the power of debate. It does not mean the advancement of plausible theories, but it means the power of efficient performance."

"When you have a popular government, the only method by which it can be carried on is by a system of parties in which the members of the parties sacrifice many of their non-essential views and agree on a few great principles.

"Comparing the two parties, first what experience has each had in governing; second, what is the attitude toward each other; third, what is the likelihood that they will work together in such a way as to give them a full sense of responsibility to the people at large in carrying on the government? Are the men whom they selected for their leaders statesmen, men with a sense of responsibility to the people and governmental policy? Having made that comparison without regard to the particulars which they uphold in the present issue, you can usually make up your minds which party you ought to take. Because the issues in the election are issues are likely to arise that cannot be submitted to a party.

Attack on Democracy.

"Now what of the Democrats? They had power for four years, but the minute they got into power they began to quarrel over what they should do. They passed a free trade bill through one house, and then in the next house they made a kind of sectional protective bill, and then they passed it. I assumed such a phrase that Cleveland, the leader of the party, for whom we have the highest respect, pronounced that bill an act of perfidy and dishonor, and that was the end of it. They could not divide between free silver and the gold standard. In other words, they showed, as they would show now if you gave them power, that the only convenience that they have is a collection of party politicians. They lack efficiency, they lack responsibility to the people for carrying on the government as it should be carried on, and this, my dear friends, is the reason we have to take care of them and when you get to their principles, their acts are even worse."

Berkler-Lane Nuptials.
Special to The Tribune.
BOSTON, Mass. Oct. 29.—In Chelsea, this evening, Miss Grace L. Lane, daughter of John E. Lane, of Everett, was married to Rev. James P. Berkler of Salt Lake City, Utah. The ceremony took place at the First Congregational church. Rev. Francis W. Bakeman, D. D., of Chicago, officiated. The bridesmaid was Miss Susan B. Bakeman and the best man was John P. Lane, brother of the bride. Following the church reception was held at the home of the bride.
